Want a natural energy buzz?

Bee Pollen has a strong nutritional profile that offers a natural energy boost!

This responsibly-sourced whole food is 22% protein, and provides beneficial antioxidant and other nutrients.

Bee pollen has been called the “perfect food” because of its remarkable array of nutrients.

A true gift from Mother Nature, bee pollen contains many essential nutrients, including protein, 22 amino acids, B-vitamins, 27 mineral salts, trace elements and several enzymes.

Roman, Chinese and Egyptian civilizations revered bee pollen and enjoyed this unique nutrient. The Greeks called it the “nectar of the gods”.

Hippocrates, the father of modern medicine, prescribed bee pollen for its healing properties.

Many natural health enthusiasts have used bee pollen to support the respiratory system during seasonal changes.

Modern research shows that bee pollen provides a wealth of nutrition, including protein, carbs, lipids, minerals, antioxidant flavonoids and traces of vitamins.

NSP's Bee Pollen is naturally dried to preserve vital enzymes.

Our bee pollen is also non-GMO and sustainably sourced from hives in rural regions of China.

Benefits:

- Provides a whole food energy boost
- Traditionally supports respiratory health
- Non-GMO and sustainably sourced

Ingredients:

Bee pollen.

Quality Assured:

Bees accumulate pollen on their legs as they visit flowers to gather nectar. Pollen is sustainably harvested when they return to the hive. A screen placed over the hive entrance gently removes the pollen granules from the bees' legs as they crawl through. This allows for pollen collection with no harm to the bee.

Our bee pollen is non-GMO and sustainably sourced from hives in rural regions of China.

This energizing nutrient is also Kosher-certified, and it's thoroughly examined for a litany of pesticides, heavy metals and microbes by both our supplier and the Nature's Sunshine's QA team.

Clean, natural, good-for-you ingredients open the door for you to feel the power of nature.

Recommended Use:

Take 2 capsules with meals twice daily.
